Victim Impact Statement

Just for little kids

To parents: If your child is too young to read or is just learning to read, you may want to help your child fill out the victim impact statement. When helping your child, you may want to read the directions aloud, talk about what they may be feeling (sad, mad, scared, or any other feelings you think are appropriate), and what your child may want to think about when they are drawing or writing on the statement. Please do not tell your child what to draw or write. This is your child's chance to tell the judge how he or she is feeling about what has happened. If your child would rather draw a picture of a bird, a boat or write a story about bumblebees, this is okay as well. Should your child become uncomfortable in any way while filling out the victim impact statement, reassure your child that he or she does not have to fill out the form unless he or she wants to.

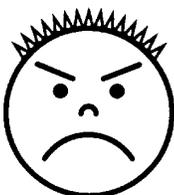

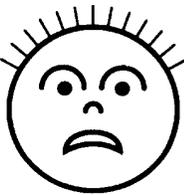

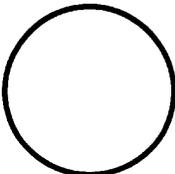

What is your name?

(It's okay if your parents help you write your name)

How old are you? _____

If you go to school, what grade are you in? _____
